Joint meeting set on waste disposal

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Hancock County Landfill at Catahoula will no longer accept tires or trash. County Maintenance Superintendent Bill Johnson said trash such as leaves, old appliances and other items not considered household garbage may be taken to the county's trash site at Standard. The Standard dump is open from 7 a.m. until 6 p.m. seven days each week. The Catahoula site will accept only household garbage. Tires, which can not be burned due to chemicals in the smoke and can not be buried, will not be accepted at either site. The board has scheduled a joint meeting with the cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland to discuss waste disposal because the Catahoula site is running out of room and another suitable landfill site has not yet been found. The supervisors also plan to invite representatives of waste-hauling and disposal firms to the meeting, scheduled for June 17. The supervisors decided last month that the meeting is necessary after conferring with David Taylor of Gulf Regional Planning Commission, who had been asked to coordinate with the Mississippi Bureau of Geology to find someone who could do test borings on alternate landfill sites. The results of those borings should show whether or not the alternate sites meet federal and state standards for landfills for household garbage, which are more stringent than those for trash sites. The board members had stated at previous meetings that although the Standard site may possibly qualify, it appears unlikely that any site farther south could. Taylor explained that the Bureau of Geology has changed its policy toward helping government entities with such test because its officials are currently trying to discourage establishment of any new landfills.

The cost of the borings could be anywhere from $30,000 to $100,000, he added. After receiving that information, the board discussed the matter with Johnson, who said he would check on the cost of using privately owned waste disposal sites but that doing so might be cost prohibitive. Another alternative the board is pursuing is an attempt to get permission from officials at John C. Stennis Space Center, formerly National Space Technology Laboratories, for use of remaining acreage at the Catahoula site. The site falls under the space center's jurisdiction because it is located in the center's buffer zone. The entire site consists of 21 acres of property, but Johnson said that even if the county can use the rest of the site, doing so would provide only a temporary solution. The meeting will begin at 10 a.m. in the upstairs boardroom of the Hancock County Courthouse.

Shoreline man shot

BY D.C. HARVILL
A man was left dead Tuesday night, following an altercation at a party in Shoreline Park. Hancock County sheriff's deputies, responding to a 10 p.m. call that a shooting had occurred at the Ocean Street residence of Jimmy Wayne Morton, discovered the lifeless body of Louis "Pete" Meyers Jr., also of Shoreline Park, lying under the raised house. Meyer appeared to have been shot in the chest with a .38 caliber weapon, according to Hancock County Sheriff Ronnie Peterson. A barbecue attended by about five people was being held beneath the house, with everyone drinking heavily, when the altercation arose between Morton, 37, and Meyers, 30, according to witnesses. Allegedly, Morton had a .38 caliber pistol in his rear pocket, drew it and shot Meyer in the chest. After the shooting, everyone in attendance at the barbecue ran into a wooded area near the house, witnesses stated. Morton was arrested by sheriff's deputies at 11:30 p.m. and charged with murder. Rickey Stoufflet, 31, of Bay St. Louis, while leaving a wooded area near the home, about an hour after the shooting, was arrested for public drunkenness and as a material witness to the shooting. The murder weapon has not yet been found, Peterson said. Both Morton and Stoufflet are being held until they appear before a Justice Court judge for setting of bond. Nathan Hoda and Glen Strong of the Sheriff's Department are in charge of the investigation.

County to set up light at Washington, Chapman

BY DENA BISNETTE
A flashing yellow caution light is being set up at the corner of Chapman and Washington Roads, but the stop signs are not going to be removed at this point. On Monday, the Hancock County Board of Supervisors accepted a petition from about 156 property owners who want the four-way stop signs at the intersection removed. Roberta LaFontaine, who presented the petition, said that the signers are mostly residents of the Jourdan River area and are concerned because the stop signs are frequently ignored. The signs were put up at the request of a group of residents of Garden Isle subdivision, but LaFontaine alleged that it is the Garden Isle residents who have ignored the signs. LaFontaine explained that "Washington Road has been there since 1890 and it is a thoroughfare," stating that she feels the signs should never have been put up. Hancock County Maintenance Superintendent Bill Johnson said the lights have already arrived and took quotes Monday on the installation work, which he said involved electrical procedures that his department can not provide. LaFontaine said she and the petitioners want the signs taken down, but Beat Five Supervisor Mike Ladner suggested leaving the signs up with the caution light to see if the light causes drivers to obey the signs. He said he hopes the flashing light will make drivers more aware that the intersection is a four-way stop. Ladner said the question of the stop signs "is a public safety issue" and objected to the matter becoming a political issue. The stop signs have caused controversy since the previous administration, when James Trivica, then Beat Five supervisor, put them up after being petitioned to do so. They have been removed at least once since then and were replaced at public request.

SHRIMPERS GALORE—Boat trailers are lined up Wednesday morning at the American Legion boat launch for the 8 a.m. opening of the Mississippi shrimp season. Weather was near perfect for the opening. The Mississippi Bureau of Marine Resources predicted a poor season this year, but if reports Wednesday afternoon are any indication the season may exceed expectations. Several shrimpers interviewed said they had caught as many shrimp as on past opening days and that the shrimp were large. (Echo staff photo by D.C. Harvill)

Ask Ochsner

Q. What is rheumatic fever and what are its symptoms? Mrs. JS, Baton Rouge, La.

A. According to Dr. Stephen Pollet, a rheumatologist at the Ochsner Clinic of Baton Rouge, rheumatic fever is an inflammatory disease which can result from the streptococcus bacterium, commonly known as a 'strep throat,' and if untreated, it can cause arthritis or severe damage to heart valves.

The disease is more threatening for children, male and female alike. However, not all children who have a strep throat will develop rheumatic fever. In fact, only about three percent of untreated strep throat sufferers will get rheumatic fever.

Symptoms of the disease are usually characterized by inflammation of the joints; wrists, elbows, knees and ankles are most commonly affected. In some cases of rheumatic fever, a skin rash or the appearance of small nodules (little swellings) may occur.

These symptoms usually appear about three weeks to three months after the initial strep throat infection, and can continue for several weeks thereafter.

Very rarely, if the heart alone is affected, only vague symptoms will appear, such as fatigue and mild shortness of breath—thus, the condition can go untreated.

However, in extreme cases of rheumatic fever involving the heart, definite symptoms occur, including severe breathlessness, fever and fluid accumulation.

For this reason, it is important to have your child seen by a pediatrician as soon as symptoms of a harsh sore throat occur. Dr. Pollet emphasizes that antibiotics should be taken for ten days to insure that the bacterium is completely eradicated, even though the pain associated with strep throat may have abated.

Treatment for rheumatic fever usually consists of drug therapy—prescribing aspirin or anti-inflammatory drugs for the pain and swelling in the joints.

When symptoms are severe, stronger anti-inflammatory drugs, such as steroids, may be prescribed. Also, if heart valve damage does occur, your physician may refer you to a cardiologist. In the worst possible cases, valve replacement surgery may be considered.

Correction

A cowboy was incorrectly identified in a photo caption which accompanied a Sunday Sea Coast Echo announcement of an American Cowboy Association Rodeo scheduled for Friday and Saturday at the Hancock County Fairgrounds.

The cowboy pictured is actually Mike Payola of Bay St. Louis. In addition, the event in which he was participating was incorrectly noted as steer wrestling. Payola was photographed while participating in the bull-riding event.

The Echo regrets the error.

COOKIN' GOOD

By Mrs. Douglas

Chicken Casserole

Thank heaven for chicken. This lovely dish is hearty, inexpensive and delicious. To serve four to six, you'll need:

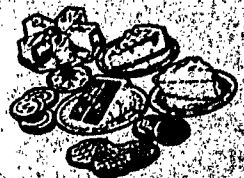

- 3 lb. roasting chicken, cut up
- 2 T butter
- 1 T oil
- 2 celery stalks
- 2 large carrots
- 1 medium onion, sliced
- 4 medium potatoes, peeled and diced
- 1 tsp. thyme
- salt and pepper to taste
- 1/4 cup flour

Wash chicken pieces and pat dry. Heat butter and oil in large Dutch oven. Sauté chicken until golden brown on all sides. Cut up carrots, celery and onion into one-inch chunks. Add to chicken. Season with thyme, salt and pepper and sauté for three minutes. Add two cups water, bring to a boil. Reduce heat, simmer covered, for ten minutes. Add potatoes, cook an additional 20 minutes. Dissolve flour into one-fourth-cup water. Remove one-half-cup chicken broth and stir into flour mixture. Add to Dutch oven, stirring. Bring to a boil, then remove from heat. Serve as it is in Dutch oven, or transfer to casserole dish. Serve with a salad using a sour cream or yogurt dressing. Hot rolls, of course.

Last Saturday morning I visited the Farmers Market at the Hancock County Fairgrounds on Longfellow Road.

The amount of fresh-grown produce is amazing, such as homegrown tomatoes, string beans, red and white potatoes, sweet peppers, blueberries, turnip greens, collards, green, white and yellow squash, and the list goes on and on.

The Farmers Market, sponsored by the County Agent and Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, gives local farmers an opportunity to offer farm-fresh produce.

We enjoy visiting the Farmers Market, as it gives us an opportunity of visiting with many folks we have met there over the years and to also get some really good, fresh produce.

The market opens Saturdays and Wednesdays at 7 a.m., as farmers are early risers.

We hope to see you at the Farmers Market.

Many preparations went into the Bay St. Louis Beachfront Festival last Sunday.

Of course, no one locally has control over the weather. Even with the rain, many folks visited the festival, and if the weather would have been better, many more would have come.

One thing we do know, the organizers of the festival met the next day to begin plans for next year.

Many folks will be waiting for the next festival.

Boats of all sizes were chasing shrimp in the Bay on opening day Wednesday.

I can never remember seeing so many boats, and they were of all sizes and shapes.

We hope everyone caught their share of shrimp, as we doubt a shrimp had a chance of escaping so many nets.

A recent letter from a school bus driver of handicapped children was of interest to us.

The bus driver reported the problems she has in delivering handicapped students at area schools even though there are specially marked loading and unloading spaces designated for the bus.

The driver reported the areas are usually filled by vehicles of parents with perfectly healthy kids, making it almost impossible for the handicapped students to reach their classes.

The state of Mississippi is in the process of tightening up on people parking in spaces reserved for the handicapped, and we feel it really needs attention.

We know the parking spaces in area shopping centers designated for handicapped drivers are most of the time used by very healthy drivers.

We hope motorists will leave the designated parking spaces for the handicapped to those who really need to use them.

The People's Business

CHILD CARE AS AN ECONOMIC ISSUE

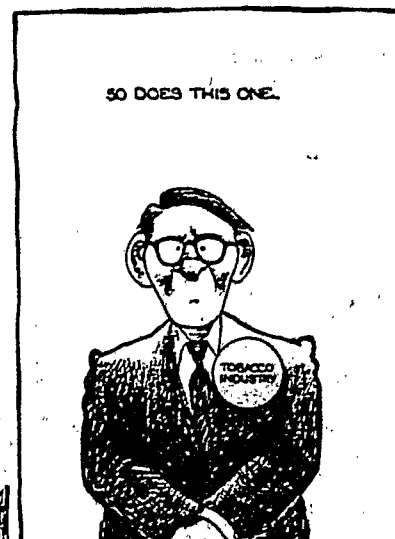

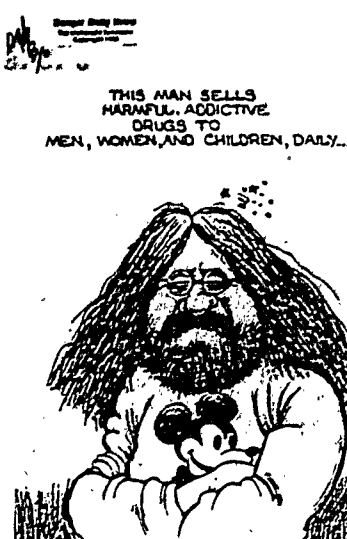

The Governor's Task Force on Child Care has been informed that the lack of child care services should be viewed as an economic, as well as social, issue.

Julie Mabius, wife of Governor Ray Mabius, told the task force that new burdens are being placed on families and employers as an ever-increasing number of mothers enter the work force. Mrs. Mabius said, "If nothing else, child care is about dollars and cents...it is an issue about economic development."

The U.S. Congress is beginning to recognize the problems associated with child care. Senator Thad Cochran of Mis-issippi serves on the Senate Labor and Human Resources Committee presently studying a number of bills on child care. One of the bills, introduced by Cochran, is known as the Child Care Services Improvement Act. This bill includes incentives for on-site day care facilities for employers and state licensing for day care facilities.

The Governor's Task Force on Child Care will be holding public hearings in each of the state's five congressional districts this year in an effort to isolate and solve the state's child care problems. This issue affects a large number of families and businesses in the state. Those affected should plan to attend the public meetings to help solve the state's child care problems.

Concerned taxpayer expresses misgivings about unit system

Editor
The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir,
The Board of Supervisors of this county has spent $240 on a road in the buffer zone that has not been county-maintained since 1963.

The job situation in Hancock County has fallen. Your newly-elected board of supervisors has failed its promise to bring more jobs to Hancock County.

What few jobs are here are being filled with outsiders. All local jobs being bidden on in Hancock County have been manipulated by certain people so that the price range is out of reach for local contractors. And the board of supervisors of this county will not try to reason with outside contractors to hire local people. Local people are having to travel out of state to support their families and to pay their taxes in Hancock County.

We, the taxpayers of this county who have to work away from this county should spend our money outside of this county.

We have recently been reading the county docket. There are still a lot of companies being paid for maintenance on county equipment that was supposed to have been eliminated when the unit system was put into effect.

THE MOSCOW SUMMIT AND THE ECONOMIC SUMMIT

I recently returned from my historic Moscow summit meeting with General Secretary Gorbachev—and it so happens that later this month, I will be visiting Canada for an economic summit with the leaders of the world's industrialized nations. I thought I would tell you about both.

First, my meeting with General Secretary Gorbachev in Moscow. The event that held perhaps the most immediate historic importance took place on the first of June. It was then that General Secretary Gorbachev and I exchanged the instruments of ratification bringing into effect the I.N.F. Treaty. The effect of this treaty will be, very simply, to eliminate an entire class of U.S. and Soviet intermediate-range nuclear missiles.

The significance of the I.N.F. Treaty can hardly be overstated. For the first time ever, the levels of nuclear arms will actually be reduced, rather than having caps placed on their growth. These missiles will not simply have been shuffled around on the map, or placed in storage. They will have been destroyed.

The exchange of these instruments of ratification alone would have made the Moscow summit a success. But the General Secretary and I made important progress in other areas as well. We moved ahead on START negotiations, negotiations that could lead to a dramatic reduction in both sides' arsenals of strategic nuclear arms.

On bilateral issues, I am especially pleased by our agreement to hold increased exchanges involving high school students. The number of students will at first be in the hundreds, but could grow into the thousands. Imagine it: hundreds, and then thousands of young people who have first-hand knowledge of each other's country—and, yes, who have made friends.

Turning to regional conflicts, Mr. Gorbachev and I discussed ways to reduce tension in areas around the globe—Southeast Asia, Africa, Central America, the Persian Gulf, and the Middle East. The withdrawal of Soviet troops from Afghanistan, of course, represents a historic step in itself—one that the General Secretary and I agreed could serve as a model for settling other regional conflicts.

A key part of my agenda for this Moscow summit, as for my previous meetings with the General Secretary, involved human rights. Recently, the Soviets have begun to show somewhat more respect for human rights—in the past year, for example, they have released some 300 political detainees from detention. It is my hope that what took place in my Moscow visit will lead to still greater individual freedom for the people of the Soviet Union.

You see, in addition to my meetings with Mr. Gorbachev, I held other meetings; with monks at a monastery in Moscow, with nearly 100 dissidents and refuseniks—men and women who have worked for years for the freedom to speak, to worship, to assemble and to travel. And at Moscow University, with students—indeed, with the very students likely to become the Soviet Union's next generation of leaders.

To the dissidents and refuseniks, I was able to say: the people of the United States and elsewhere support you. To the students, I suggested: there is another way to live and govern your country—a way of democracy and economic growth, a way in which creative human energies are released.

If anyone had suggested, even as recently as ten years ago, that an American President would one day be able to meet with Soviet dissidents inside Moscow itself—or be able to speak to Soviet students in their own university about human freedom—a prediction like that would have been dismissed. But it has happened. Seeds of freedom and greater trust were sown. And I just have to believe that—in ways we may not even be able to guess—those seeds will take root, and grow.

Accompanying these new political freedoms are a series of economic reforms that may begin to inject elements of free enterprise into the Soviet economy. Soon I will be attending my final economic summit in Toronto, where the Western countries will celebrate the success of free markets. It is my belief that liberty should be as important a concern in Toronto as it was in Moscow.

Liberty in the economic sphere means low taxes. It means paring away needless regulations and reducing counterproductive government planning and interference. And it means keeping down barriers to international trade—here and around the world.

Eyes on Mississippi

By Bill Minor

JACKSON—P. D. Fyke used to play wiffle ball in my back yard with my boys and other kids from the neighborhood. Now he's taking a swat at curing some of the state's longstanding economic problems.

Earlier this year, Fyke at age 38 had been lured by Gov. Ray Mabius back to Mississippi after 12 years in the more glamorous world of high finance in New York City to become the governor's special assistant for economic development.

Fyke quickly admits he came back home at a substantial cut in salary because of the challenge of being part of Mabius' movement to lift Mississippi off the bottom of the nation's economic ladder.

"There are times when somebody of visionary leadership comes along and brings about great change. That was the case of Martin Luther King. Now the time could be right in Mississippi, and Ray Mabius could be that visionary leader," he says.

"I thought it was a good time to come back to Mississippi, and I felt I could bring certain contacts, knowledge and skills I had picked up in New York."

Fyke went to New York in 1975 after graduating from the Ole Miss Law School because he wanted to go to work for Chase Manhattan Bank. Before he ever landed in the bank's training program he took graduate courses at New York University school of business, and studied acting under William Hickey on the side.

He even got some "off-off" Broadway roles and did a bit part in a television soap opera.

Once he joined Chase Manhattan, his stock evidently rose quickly as a marketing analyst specializing in the utilities field. When the boom was underway in the late 70s in utility plant construction, Fyke was putting together multi-million dollar financing packages.

In the colony of ex-Mississippians working in New York was Julie Hines, whose older sister had been one of Fyke's high school chums in Jackson. P. D. and Julie got to be good friends until Julie moved back to Jackson and started dating the state auditor, a guy named Ray Mabius.

Fyke left Chase Manhattan in 1985 to help launch a new steel mill in Arkansas. For the next year or so he frequently got over to Jackson and socialized with Julie and Ray, talking for hours about "what we would like to see Mississippi become."

Back in New York by the end of 1986, Fyke became a financial adviser for Paribas Bank, a French investment bank. Meantime Ray Mabius had married Julie and was running for governor. It's of course history that Mabius was elected in a campaign awash with the dynamics of change.

Mabius thought about P. D. Fyke, his keen intellect and broad grasp of economic analysis, and wanted him on his team. In December, Mabius called, and Fyke accepted.

"Ray didn't ask anything about my politics, whether I was a Democrat or a Republican. Actually, economic development is an apolitical issue," says Fyke.

But Fyke sees such political reforms as the county unit system and governmental reorganization which Mabius is advocating as issues which also have an economic bottom line.

His rationale is that Mississippi must reallocate its dollars to overcome its greatest economic handicap—a large segment of its population which is poorly educated and equipped only for poorly paid jobs.

To find those dollars without raising taxes, "we have to make government more efficient," Fyke declared.

Mississippi had little incentive to raise the education level of the people when it was struggling for industrial jobs in the 1950s and 1960s, he notes, "because we had a rural society that depended upon little-educated workers who were lowly paid."

Now, he said, a large corporation considering Mississippi as a prospective site would find it difficult to make a decision to invest in the state when it looks at Mississippi statistics that show the state has 400,000 functional illiterates.

"We've got to address the whole human resources equation," Fyke maintains. "And education is the key to the foundation. To the extent that you educate people that's where ideas come from, and from ideas come innovation and entrepreneurship."

But if change is to come to Mississippi, Fyke realizes, the people have to want change. He thinks that time has arrived.

In Congress

By Congressman Trent Lott

MISSION ACCOMPLISHED

For the last week, our collective eyes have been focused eastward, toward the Summit in Moscow. But what exactly did we see and, more importantly, what will we see in the future?

We saw plenty of posing. This was a photographer's sweetest dream. And plenty of posturing on both sides.

For General Secretary Gorbachev, this was an opportunity to show his side of the world that he can negotiate face to face with the United States on his home field. That he did.

He also got the President to recognize his plans for reforming Soviet economic and political life. As President Reagan himself put it, this is a "different time" in the Soviet Union. Afghanistan is just one example.

For President Reagan, the Summit was a worldwide news conference that he knew would be covered on his terms. And he used the forum well, taking every available opportunity, and there were lots of them, to criticize the Soviet Union for its stance on human rights.

In real terms, Mr. Reagan and Mr. Gorbachev exchanged INF Treaties, the first pact to require the dismantling of nuclear weapons. And they also signed agreements to expand pre-notification and data exchange in the area of nuclear testing. But in the long-range missile department, though it was heavily discussed, we came away with no new and dramatic breakthroughs. While some may view this as a disappointment, I do not.

There is a feeling in both countries that perhaps these two world leaders are moving too fast. Negotiations, and that is after all the focus of these meetings, should never be hurried. Slow, steady progress is always the best.

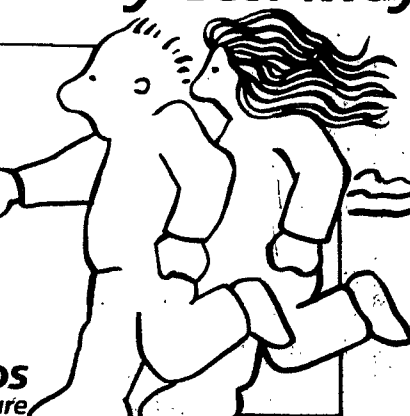

So what happens next? Well, for one thing we will keep talking. That may sound simple, but world history tells us that isn't necessarily the case. We will also see if the Soviets are prepared to move forward on a long-range missile agreement. For this to progress, any dialogue must include discussion of the imbalance of conventional weapons—an area the Soviets have yet to address.

The stage is now set for improved U.S.-Soviet relations. Now we will see if the Russians mean what they say.

Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. Mississippi peach growers will have a crop to sell for the first time in four years when harvesting gets underway in two weeks.

State growers could produce well over 250,000 bushels of peaches by the time the season ends in mid-July. The crop may expand into markets held by Georgia and South Carolina peach growers. Peach crops in those states have been damaged by unexpected hail storms.

Late freezes in April destroyed Mississippi's peach crop three years in a row, and growers have struggled to start an industry. Their frustrations may be alleviated by sales at the roadside market.

"There seems to be growing demand in Mississippi for homegrown peaches," said Dr.

Freddie Rasberry, horticulturist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. "Everybody has been waiting for them to get here."

Weather has been relatively kind to the crop this year.

A mid-March freeze hit when most of the trees had not set their blooms. Only 15 percent of the crop was lost.

Dry weather has minimized disease problems which usually come with constant dampness.

Rain at this stage would not hurt the peaches, either.

"We're just two weeks away from making a peach crop,"

Rasberry said. "They know now that for the first time they have peaches to sell and they are busy trying to secure marketing opportunities."

In other agricultural news, dry weather has cotton and soybean farmers asking for rain.

Q. Why do so many people refer to cats as "mangey?" What is mange?

A. Mange is a skin disorder. There are two types of mange: demodectic (or follicular) and notoedric (or sarcopic). Fortunately, although it does occur, demodectic mange is extremely rare in cats.

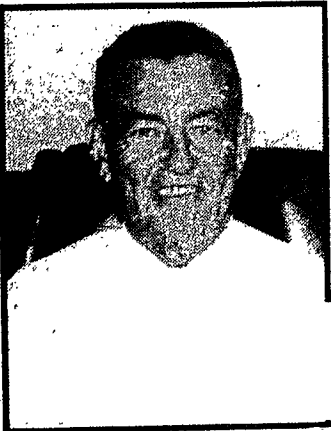

Demodectic mange is characterized by excessive shedding, reddening and thickening of the skin, bare spots around the eyes and, eventually, a bloody pustular discharge. The lesions may be localized on the head, elbows, hocks and toes, or may be spread over the entire body.

The only way to find out if your cat has mange or some other skin condition is to have your veterinarian examine a skin scraping with a microscope.

Sarcopic mange is the form most common to cats. The condition is characterized by intense itching, thick and dry skin, scabs and loss of fur. The condition usually begins on the cat's head (around the eyes, ears and muzzle), but it may also appear on the lower abdomen, chest, under the front legs and at the root of the tail. Positive identification of the mange mite is made by careful examination with the microscope.

Treatment of both types of mange consists of frequent baths and applications of salves until the mange mites are destroyed, and the fur is restored.

IDEAS FOR INTERIORS

Kitchen Planning

The kitchen, more than any other room, must be planned and designed carefully. It should reflect your personality, and, at the same time, be functional because it is primarily a workroom.

Before planning your space, make a list of all the things you want in your kitchen. For instance, if you don't prepare lavish meals, don't plan a whole wall of pegboards loaded down with gadgets. On the other hand, if cooking is your pleasure, you might even consider an overhead rack with hooks for large pots and pans which you can reach in a flash.

Keep everything simple. Don't try to create an overly dramatic style kitchen. Kitchens laden with unusual collections of quaint antique utensils, interesting boxes and baskets are fascinating to look at, but not only are they useless, they in time will be covered with grease and grime.

Then there is the extreme opposite style kitchen, one which is so sterile and sleek and which may not match your personality.

Don't let trends fool you. Understand your own needs, habits and budget.

WEDDING BELLS

Your wedding flowers: An expression of "you" which helps to set the mood for your special day

The variety of wedding celebrations today has sparked a renewed interest in using flowers to create an individualized image and to enhance the romantic mood of the entire wedding day.

For the bride and her attendants, to the church or temple, to the reception, flowers play an important role in shaping the beauty of wedding day activities.

Florists Transworld Delivery Association (FTD®), the nation's largest cooperative of member florists, recommends that you consult with a floral professional well in advance of your wedding day. Your florist can help you select flowers that will best express the style, colors and theme of your wedding.

For convenience, FTD President Bob McNamara suggests grouping wedding styles into three main categories: Traditional, which can also be called old-fashioned or classic; contemporary, which is a sophisticated, dramatic look; and natural, which is a casual, country or garden style.

Many different floral combinations can be used to interpret each of these styles. A contemporary bouquet, for example, will use angular, sculptured-looking flowers.

A natural bouquet's flower content, on the other hand, will depend more on a garden or wildflower look.

According to McNamara, himself a florist for over 30 years, there are basically three different wedding bouquet shapes, which also may be adapted to fit many floral combinations to match wedding style.

The first, and probably best known, is the "shower or cascade bouquet" which falls gracefully from the point where it is held.

Round bouquets, or "poseys," feature rosettes of flowers grouped closely together around a central bloom.

And lastly, there are tied bunches of flowers with the stems left intact, called "loose" or "tied" bouquets.

Flowers for people

Besides your bouquet, you'll want to consider those of the wedding party. Traditionally, bridesmaids and other attendants carry the same shape bouquet as the bride, with similar floral content. The attendants' dresses, however, will influence your color scheme.

"It's important to select flowers that complement or contrast, not match, your attendants' colors," says McNamara.

McNamara suggests bringing to your consultation a photograph of your dress and a swatch of your attendants' dress material to check color and texture.

A rose or carnation, accented with a touch of baby's breath, is a customary choice when selecting groom and usher boutonnières.

The groom's should be slightly different—give him a white rose, for example, if the rest of the men are wearing white carnations. You may also consider selecting a flower from your bouquet as the groom's boutonniere.

Mothers of the bride and groom usually prefer the traditional wrist and shoulder corsages and flowers on the purse.

Flowers for the ceremony

Applying the style and colors you've chosen to the ceremonial flowers is simple if you visit your florist prepared.

First, find out if your ceremony location has any restrictions regarding arrangements. Your florist will make decisions accordingly.

At the ceremony, flowers are appropriate for the altar, canopy, pews or rows of chairs, as well as the entranceways. For a special touch, have a flower girl hand out loose flowers to guests as they go into the ceremony.

Flowers for the reception

Regardless of the type of reception you're planning, flowers make a dramatic impact and help set the mood for the event. Flowers can add elegance to a sit-down dinner or romance to a summer garden party.

The head table and guest tables can be decorated with single flowers, loose greens, floral centerpieces or even with blooming plants. Punch bowls and even the cake also can be decorated with flowers in the color scheme you select.

Let your florist know the number of tables at which your guests will be seated, as well as the size and shape of each table. These are important considerations for the selection of floral decorations.

Planning a wedding is a major undertaking that takes a great deal of time and thought. That's why you're smart to ask an FTD florist to assist you.

Your FTD florist is a wedding professional who can offer you expert advice and suggestions to help you select the flowers that best fit your own personal wedding style.

Today's newlyweds exchange traditional gifts of gold jewelry

The word for weddings today is "traditional," when referring to the popularity of elegant clothes, age-old ritual and a general spirit of nostalgia.

What's new is the way meaningful ceremony is combined with modern nuances to give today's couple room for imagination.

A perfect example of this trend is the custom of exchanging wedding day gifts of gold between bride and groom.

A symbol of their lifelong commitment, gold jewelry is the sentimental choice among couples who want a remembrance long after the wedding day is over.

A gift of gold the bride can wear on her special day is a treasured memento. Earrings are the most popular choice because they enhance her bridal headdress, whether she wears an elaborate veil or a simple bow in her hair.

Oversized designs like giant brushstrokes or waves sweep upwards and contour the face with strong fluid lines. Similarly, faceted gold dangles in teardrop or disc shapes catch the light and shimmer as she cascades down the aisle.

Depending on her bridal dress, a gold necklace or bracelet may add the right amount of romance. Gold jewelry with the look and feel of embroidery appears dazzling against her lacy gown.

Consider a braided or tapestry etched floral hange bracelet. Or, draw attention to an off-the-shoulder or sweetheart neckline by presenting her with a row of gold petals dangling from a strand of dainty seed pearls.

The groom also wants to look his best. A gift of gold cufflinks and matching studs will add dash to his formal tux or wedding day suit and make him feel dressed "to the nines."

Look for clean, simple shapes—either shiny ovals or textured ribbed cubes to express his classic style. For the fashion plate, a yellow and pink gold link or ID bracelet are both gifts that symbolize your love.

Something old, something new, or a combination of both is the trend in wedding styles these days. For the modern day bride and groom, the choice to design their special day and include meaningful ritual gives them a solid foundation on which to build their lives together.

REMARRIAGE: A WHOLE NEW PROPOSAL

Nearly 30 percent of all marriages today are remarriages. But, the number of remarriages isn't all that's growing, says Bride's Magazine. So is the spirit of celebration.

Some of Bride's suggestions for a remarrying couple:

• As the bride, be just a little bit selfish at this time. Wear an engagement ring. Indulge in a beauty day at the salon—complete with lavish haircare, facial and manicure. You deserve it all!

• Feel free to marry in the outfit of your choice. The traditionally simple, cream-colored suit is still lovely—but so is a romantically long and lacy gown, in white or your favorite color. The only accessory best omitted, suggests Bride's, is the veil—long a symbol of youth.

• If either of you has children, try to include them in as many plans as you can. As Barbara Tober, Editor-in-Chief of Bride's says, "If children will be part of your marriage, why not make them part of your wedding?" They'll feel especially important playing a role in your ceremony.

• Make your reception as extravagant a party as you wish, complete with all the wedding traditions—a receiving line, the "first dance," the ceremonial cutting of the cake, and a champagne toast. A warm way to welcome guests is to head up the receiving line yourselves, rather than leaving it up to your parents.

• Don't feel a honeymoon isn't necessary "this time around." Getting married is ring, even if you've been through it before. How to fit in some rest and relaxation around children? If possible, plan a trip just for the two of you first, then a "group honeymoon" so you'll all feel like a family.

Authors to sign Uptown/Downtown

BY D.C. HARVILL

New Orleans, to people everywhere, evokes a uniformly cohesive image not unlike a sultry, dark-complexioned, creole beauty wrapped in mystery and sweltering with passion.

While no less enchanted, memories of those who have grown up in the city bear out neither the uniformity nor the cohesiveness of the city's image in the minds of those from other areas.

In fact, to those who live in the city, New Orleans could be many different cities in one; each neighborhood exhibiting its own unique qualities—qualities that may be totally alien to residents of another neighborhood.

This difference between New Orleans neighborhoods and the experiences of growing up in the city is captured in Uptown/Downtown: Growing Up in New Orleans by Elsie Martinez and Margaret LeCorgne.

Martinez grew up in the downtown area of New Orleans and LeCorgne in the uptown area. The book's chapters alternate between the two.

The authors have created a lively account of what it was like growing up in their respective areas of the city during the '30's and '40's.

The book contains descriptions of every day facts of life, like school and religion, as well as special events like Mardi Gras.

That two people living in the same city can have two totally different sets of experiences is the most striking element of the book.

And that those experiences can be entirely alien to the generally held conception of the city as a whole is phenomenal.

An autograph party, with refreshments, will be held for Martinez and LeCorgne at Bookends Bookstore, 111 Highway 90, from 4 to 6 p.m. on Friday, June 11.

INJURY—Mrs. William Sanders, Main Street United Methodist Church secretary, is given first aid by Mobile Medic and Bay St. Louis Firefighters Tuesday after a fall on Second Street. Those in photo from right, Capt. Mike Willumitis, EMTA; Paramedic Scott Sauls, Pam SanFillippo, EMTI; Kim Crawford, EMTA; and Louis Pendergast, EFR. Willumitis said, Mrs. Sander's was taken to Keesler Hospital by Mobile Medic and appeared to have broken her right forearm and right hip. Late Wednesday, a friend of Mrs. Sander's reported, she was to undergo a hip joint replacement today at Keesler and also had a broken right arm. Witnesses to the accident said, the fall apparently was caused as the secretary tried to get out of the way of two youngsters on bicycles as she was on her way to change the church's bulletin board. Word Wise

Q. I constantly hear people misuse the words "bring" and "take." Would you please explain the difference?

A. The correct usage of the words "bring" and "take" all depends on the context in which they are used. Use "bring" when the action is directed at the speaker or toward the place where the speaker is ("Bring the memo here this afternoon," for example). Use "take" when the action is directed away from the speaker ("Please take the memo with you to the meeting").

If you have a question about English word usage, send it to: Word Wise, c/o McNaught Syndicate, 537 Steamboat Road, Greenwich, CT 06830.

June weddings, along with all the prenuptial parties, share the spotlight these summer days with welcoming fetes for house guests, as well as impromptu gatherings all up and down the Coast—and just about everyone is searching for ideas for party foods, whether for a formal wedding reception or a picnic supper!

At least, it seems that way to me, with invitations coming in numbers from my mailbox and telephone. And, I've also been busy answering calls requesting this recipe or that!

I like to keep special appetizers on hand in the fridge or freezer, for unexpected company or just to have on hand when I'm planning to ask friends over.

Cheese-and-sausage balls, also artichoke balls freeze well, for instance, and are ever so easy to make. And, there are many "easy-easy" dips to tide the hostess over.

One recent afternoon, I arrived home a bit on the weary side, after a busier than busy week which ended with the book sale at the Pass library. A group of us had finished counting up the totals from the two-day sale, and had packed up the leftover books we had decided to keep on hand.

No sooner had I walked into the house and kicked off my shoes and sunk deep into my favorite chair than a car horn signaled the arrival of a group of friends from New Orleans.

And, as luck would have it, I had used up all my stow-away specialties! No time for artichoke balls, though I knew they are a favorite with this favorite group of mine—but there were, as always, several cans of artichoke hearts on hand. So, I quickly made up:

HOT ARTICHOKE DIP

1 can (14 oz.) artichoke hearts, drained and mashed
1 cup mayonnaise (8 oz.)

1 cup Parmesan cheese

That's all there is to it. Mix it all well together, place in lightly buttered shallow baking dish or pie pan and bake at 350 degrees for half an hour.

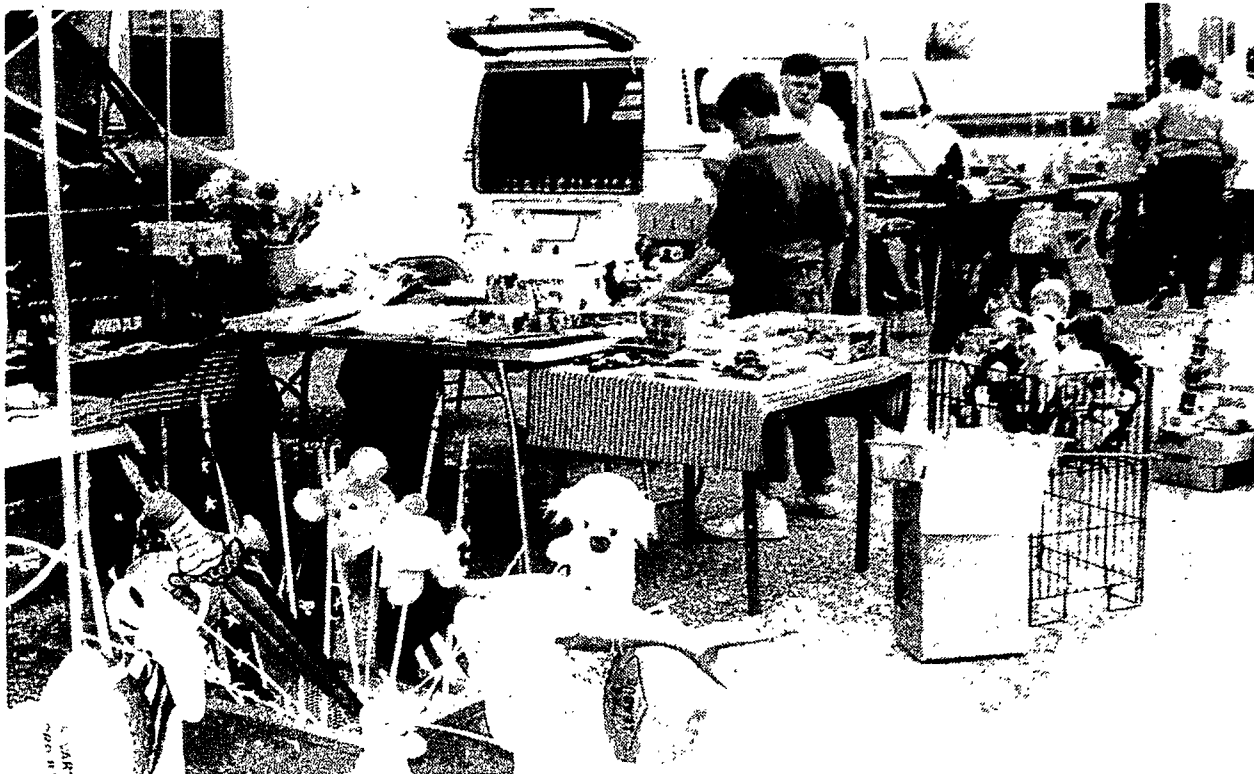

Let cool slightly before serving with crisp crackers or wafers. This is even good after it's cold if there's any left. It has an elusive taste, almost of crab-meat. And, even quicker is:

ARTICHOKE DIP

(Marie Johnson gave me this recipe several years ago, and I've used it often, and enjoyed it)

1 can artichoke hearts, drained and mashed
1 cup mayonnaise
1 envelope Italian Salad Dressing (dry) mix
Blend well together, use as a dip for assorted crackers or toast or for fresh raw vegetables—celery, broccoli, cauliflower, cucumber and so on, or as a stuffing for cherry tomatoes.

Brother Canisius plans mission work

Klagetoh is located in the Navajo Indian reservation which covers 16 million acres and is populated by more than 130,000 Navajos. The main occupations on the reservation are sheep herding, weaving rugs and silver smithing.

A large percent of the Indians are illiterate and live below the poverty level. In spite of the poor living conditions and bleak surrounding, the Navajo greeting "Diyin mihil holo"—"God is with us" is often heard during the day among these gentle people.

Brother Canisius, director of Project Do at St. Stanislaus for the past 12 years, will be leaving June 13 to spend the summer doing volunteer work at a Catholic Indian mission in Arizona.

The mission is in Klagetoh and is staffed by two Dominican nuns and a Franciscan priest who also ministers to two other Indian missions. Brother will teach in the mission school and also visit several Indian settlements in the surrounding mountains.

Coast Episcopal finishes on top in softball races

Coast Episcopal High School Lady Raiders closed their athletic year by winning the Gulf States Conference softball championship for the second consecutive year.

Led by seniors Katherine Smith, Kristin Catron, Leah Salsbury, Lauren Gipson and Stacey Standridge, the Lady Raiders defeated Reserve, La. 11-10 in the championship game.

Katherine Smith was selected the team MVP for the second year.

Coast Episcopal High School Raiders ended the year by finishing second in the Gulf State Conference in softball.

In a weather-shortened double elimination tournament the Raiders were defeated in the championship game 10-9 by Word of Life Academy in Baton Rouge.

Seniors Todd Purcell and Chris Riggs ended their prep careers for the Raiders by bringing home the runner-up trophy. Chris Riggs was named the team MVP.

Whoppers drop game to Tommy's Dirt Hauling

The Burger King Whoppers have lost a 14 to 11 game to Tommy's Dirt Hauling in recent baseball action.

Whoppers Coach Leo Laurent said the Whoppers, a nine-and-10 year-old division team, played well throughout the game.

The coach said the turning point in the game was a grand slam home run in the third inning by Chris Green of Tommy's Dirt Hauling, which gave the Whoppers' opponent the lead.

Laurent awarded game balls to Whoppers Nicholas Herrion and Trinity Adam for their play throughout the game.

Softball schedules

Tommy Esposito, commissioner, District No. 1 Amateur Softball Association, states that men and women softball teams must play in the Class A District No. 1 ASA Tournament July 11-17 to be eligible to play in the BCDE ASA District Tournament July 18-24.

The top three men and women teams in Class A District will advance to state and the remaining may play in BCDE.

"You must play in A to qualify to play in BCDE. Tournament directors have district rosters available," Esposito pointed out.

The following sites, dates and directors for all the 1988 District ASA Softball Tournaments are:

—Men's A and Major, Gulfport, July 11-17, Butch Weaver (Work) 832-0697 (Home) 896-3386

—Women's A and Major, d'Iberville, July 11-17, Stan Warner 392-6133.

—Church Men and Women A and Major, Ocean Springs, Andre Kaufman (Day) 875-8665 (Night) 875-4136, July 8-9.

ETV Brief

WATER PROBLEMS

Cholera, dysentery, schistosomiasis and the dreaded guinea worm are among the diseases people of the Third World risk when they drink unsafe water.

A half-hour ETV special, 'The Water of Ayole,' at 9:30 p.m., Friday, June 10, explains how governments and international aid organizations have taken on the task of making clean water easily available.

These organizations have already spent an estimated $70 billion to do so. Their efforts, however, are proving to be a costly failure. Wells and pumping equipment fall into disrepair as soon as six months after they are installed.

'The Water of Ayole' looks at how one small village in Togo, West Africa, Ayole, has defied the odds—the well and pump there continue to supply clean, pure water five years after they were installed.

Tylertown man catches bass competition win

Ken Murphy of Tylertown has won the third tournament in the Little Dixie Bass Association's mini-circuit competition with a catch of four bass tipping the scales at seven pounds, eight ounces. The tournament, held on the Tombigbee River near Coffeeville, Ala., attracted a field of 20 anglers who landed 52 bass with a combined weight of 73 pounds, 12 ounces.

"This is my first first-place win," said Murphy. "There's nothing like success to keep you going. I'm looking forward to the next tournament, and I'm planning a repeat performance."

Second place winner, Jude Tisdale of Hattiesburg, reeled in five bass with a catch weight of seven pounds, four ounces. Emery Burch of Hattiesburg ran a close third, with a string of six bass, tipping the scales at six pounds, 12 ounces.

Other winners included Charles Noble, fourth; Ardell Pruitt, fifth; L. H. Martin, sixth; Don Walters, seventh; Mike Millis, eighth; Steve Babb, ninth; and David Staples, 10th place.

The Little Dixie mini-circuit is a six-tournament competition based on pounds and ounces with the top 20 anglers advancing to the Little Dixie National Tournament to be held on Oct. 29 and 30. The mid-season ranking for tournament slots and the title Little Dixie Angler of the Year is as follows:

Charles Noble, 15 pounds, 14 ounces
Jude Tisdale, 14 pounds, 9 1/2 ounces
Ken Murphy, 14 pounds, 4 ounces
Emery Burch, 10 pounds
Ardell Pruitt, 9 pounds, 4 ounces
Don Walters, 9 pounds, 2 ounces
Chuck Noble, 9 pounds, 1 ounce
David Staples, 7 pounds, 11 ounces
Ron Kozak, 7 pounds, 4 ounces
L. H. Martin, 6 pounds, 8 ounces

"We're having a lot of fun with these competitions," said Ray Roberts, Little Dixie Bass Association director, "but there's a lot more to Little Dixie than just fun. Our goal is to firmly establish competitive bass fishing in Mississippi. Our one-day tournaments are within easy driving distance for Mississippi and Alabama fishermen. This eliminates a lot of the time and expense normally associated with tournament fishing, so anyone who wants can enter."

Membership in Little Dixie Bass Association is $20 a year. Fees include a cap with the association's logo, an assortment of lures, and a subscription to the association's newsletter.

The fourth Little Dixie qualifying tournament will take place on June 25 on the Biloxi River near Gulfport. The launch site will be Kremer Marina. Entry fees are $50 and entry deadline has been extended to June 23.

For information on the Little Dixie Bass Association's mini-circuit and upcoming tournaments, contact Ray Roberts, association director, at 601-849-2694.

State among national leaders in reforestation

Mississippi ranked fourth among all 50 States in overall reforestation effort last year, according to the 1987 U.S. Forest Planting Report published recently.

The report covers tree planting and direct seeding of trees nationwide during the period from October, 1986 through September, 1987. A total of 251,000 acres were reforested in Mississippi. Only Florida, Alabama and Georgia ranked higher.

The U.S. Forest Service Report also shows that Mississippi ranked 6th in the nation in 1987 in terms of number of seedlings produced at State-run nurseries. The Mississippi Forestry Commission's three nurseries at Winona, Mt. Olive and Waynesboro Produced 69 million tree seedlings. Georgia was the leader with 156 million seedlings produced; followed by Florida (96 million); Alabama (77 million); South Carolina (72 million); and Virginia (71 million).

The Magnolia State ranked 8th nationally in reforestation on Federal lands; 4th in seeding and planting on non-Federal public lands; and 3rd (behind only Georgia and Florida) in number of acres reforested on privately-owned land (228,000 acres).

In direct-seeding (scattering of seed as opposed to hand or machine planting seedlings) Mississippi again ranked third behind Georgia and Florida. We direct-seeded about 3,600 acres. Georgia seeded about 16,000 acres and Florida 8,500 acres.

Another category of forest treatment ranked by the report was Timber Stand improvement (TSI), or cull tree deadening. Mississippi was sixth in total area treated with 33,000 acres.

JUNE TERM, 1988
ADOPT 1988
MOTOR VEHICLE ASSESSMENTS
It was moved by Supervisor Roger Dale Ladner, seconded by Supervisor Michael Ladner, that the following Order be adopted:
ORDER ADOPTING MOTOR VEHICLE ASSESSMENTS FOR FISCAL YEAR BEGINNING AUGUST 1, 1988
WHEREAS, the State Tax Commission of the State of Mississippi having complied with all of the provisions of the Motor Vehicle Ad Valorem Tax Act of 1958, and amendments thereto, and having forwarded to the President of the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, in the case of the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, a certified copy of the motor vehicle assessment schedule for the ensuing fiscal year adopted by the said State Tax Commission on May 11, 1988, under the provisions of said act, and said certified copy having been received by said President of the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi and accepted on June 6, 1988; and
WHEREAS, the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, has examined and considered the aforesaid schedule and desires to adopt the same for said County; it is therefore HEREBY ORDERED BY THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI, THAT:
(1) The motor vehicle assessment schedule for the ensuing year adopted by the State Tax Commission of Mississippi, under the provision of the Motor Vehicle Ad Valorem Tax Act of 1958, and amendments thereto, is hereby adopted as the motor vehicle assessment schedule for Hancock County, Mississippi for the ensuing fiscal year.
(2) The said motor vehicle assessment schedule is now ready and open for inspection, examination and objection as set forth under the provisions of the Motor Vehicle Ad Valorem Tax Act of 1958, and amendments thereto.
(3) A Regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi will be held at the Courthouse in the City of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, at 10:00 a.m. on the 30th day of June, 1988, for the purpose of hearing and taking action on any complaint, filed in writing, objecting to and petitioning for a specified reduction on any portion or portions of said motor vehicle assessment schedule affecting the complainant directly, as provided by Section 27-51-21 of the Mississippi Code of 1972. Amended.
(4) The Clerk of the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, shall publish a certified copy of this Order as notice under the requirements of the aforesaid act in a newspaper having general circulation in Hancock County, Mississippi.
ORDERED this 6th day of June, 1988.
The matter then being put to a roll call vote, the result was as follows:
Those voting Yes: Supervisors Robert Ladner, Roger Dale Ladner, Roger Dale Ladner, Roger Dale Ladner, and Michael Ladner.
Those voting No: None.
The motion having received the unanimous affirmative vote of all members of the Board, the President declared the motion carried this 6th day of June, 1988.
Published by Order of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors dated this 6th day of June, 1988.

June 'Evening in The Park' scheduled

'Evening in The Park' interpretive program series at the William Colmer Visitor Center, Gulf Islands National Seashore in Ocean Springs will continue Thursday evening at 7 p.m.

Dr. Fred Deegen, chief of salt water fisheries for BMR as well as a park volunteer, will report on how and where to catch fish with his program, Tips on Fishing.

The Migratory Birds of Mississippi's Barrier Island will be the topic of the June 16 interpretive program when Ms. Amy Kuenzi, a graduate student at the University of Southern Mississippi and park volunteer, will present a slide program on trans-Gulf migratory bird species that make their first land fall on the barrier islands.

On Thursday, June 23, Island Ranger Mike Tranel will describe and illustrate Animal Night Life on Horn Island.

The series concludes on June 30 at 7 p.m., with a slide program, My Time with the Eagles featuring Monica Eng, a biological technician, sharing her experiences as she observed and cared for 11 immature bald eagles on Horn Island.

All programs begin at 7 p.m. in the auditorium of the William Colmer Visitor Center and are free of charge. Reservations are requested and can be made by calling (601) 875-0821.

Fitness on the Road

Keeping up your fitness program when you travel no longer is a major challenge. Whether you're on the road for business or pleasure, it's easy nowadays to fit in a workout. With a little advance planning, adding exercise to your schedule can even make your trip more enjoyable.

Too many hours spent in an airplane, bus, train or automobile can give you tired muscles and a lazy mind. That's not the best way to start, or end, a trip. Exercising while traveling has many benefits, from reducing the tension of a hectic schedule to giving you more energy during your days away from home. It's also important to maintain the fitness level you've previously worked so hard to achieve.

By following a few "pre-trip" planning tips, and keeping a flexible schedule and open mind, you can keep your fitness level up or, if you're a beginner, find a more interesting way to exercise. If nothing else, a little exercise while on the road will help you counter one of the great temptations of travel - overeating.

Tip 1 - Select a hotel with or near a fitness club and/or pool. Many hotels now have tennis courts or a golf course. Ask your travel agent to book you into a hotel with some type of exercise facility, or call in advance to see what is available.

Tip 2 - If you walk or jog for exercise, choose a hotel with safe scenic trails nearby. Ask for a local map when you check-in and directions to safe areas to walk or run. Some hotels and facilities offer running course maps detailing trails of varying distances. It's a good idea to carry some form of identification card with you, just to be on the safe side.

Tip 3 - Make your exercise clothes a priority when packing. Don't leave them until last or they may be left at home.

Consumer Update

Your credit history

By Janet K. Lukens
Area Consumer Management Specialist

Most consumers pay little attention to their credit history until they are denied credit for one reason or another. Denial of credit can be caused by a number of circumstances. The cause may be your length of time employed, your current outstanding obligations, or your history of repayment to creditors. If your credit history is part of the problem, you have rights of which you should be aware.

In 1971, the Fair Credit Reporting Act was enacted to protect consumers. This act requires lenders to give consumers the specific reason they were denied credit. If the reason for denial was based on credit history information received from a credit reporting agency, the lender must tell you which agency.

You then have the right to review the information in your credit file. There is no charge for this information if you contact the credit reporting agency or credit bureau within 30 days of credit denial.

Any error in the information in your credit file must be corrected. If you and the creditor disagree on the information reported, you both still have the right to report your side of the story. A consumer statement allows you to tell your side of the story and is kept with other information reported by creditors.

The credit bureau must then send the consumer statement along with other credit information when future requests are made for your credit file.

Be aware of your rights as a consumer to protect your credit record. It is an asset well worth protecting.

PRC board pursues bond issue

POPLARVILLE—The Pearl River Community College Board of Trustees adopted a formal resolution requesting a millage levy from the Pearl River County Board of Supervisors for the issuance of bonds for $1 million in building notes for the technology training center during the regular May meeting here.

Martin T. Smith, PRC board attorney, made the request and was authorized and directed to prepare all resolutions, orders and other documents necessary for the issuance of the building notes.

The board also designated Watkins, Ludlam and Stennis as bond counsel. July 12 was set as the bid opening date.

The technology training center, which will be located on the Poplarville campus, will be the most modern facility of its kind in the state and will offer new courses in child care and development, robotics and laser technology, instrumentation, banking and finance.

Along with the $1 million in local funds will be a matching $1 million in federal funds which were released from the U.S. Education Department for vocational-technical training here in the state. Construction costs for the building were set at $2 million.

In addition, the state's Vocational-Technical Education Department has pledged another $600,000 in equipment and $345,000 in personnel costs for the first year.

College officials say the center will add 300 additional students to the college's enrollment and 24 full and part-time employees.

In other action, the Pearl River Board:

Recognized Dr. Willis Lott, dean of academic affairs, for his selection as Poplarville's "Citizen of the Year."

Approved the 1988-'89 school calendar.

Accepted the policy on public participation. It was the second viewing by the board.

Heard a report from Dr. Ted J. Alexander, the PRC president, giving the results of the long range planning survey conducted by the Planning Committee of the strengths and weaknesses as perceived by the college faculty, staff, and administration.

Gave President Alexander authority to begin a request for proposal for architectural and/or Council for Educational Facilities Planning assistance for facilities modification, renovation, construction and design.

Approved balance of membership pledge to the Mississippi Community and Junior College Economic Development Foundation.

Reviewed the preliminary design specifications for the technology training center.

Approved payment of claims out of the Accident Contingency Fund.

Authorized the formal application for the building construction of the allied health center at the Forrest County Center to the Vocational Division of the State Department of Education.

Approved athletic fields lighting projects.

Approved $25,871.25 progress payment to Maples Construction Company for work on the new president's residence and $447 to Fred Wagner, architect, for the same project.

Approved final payment to United Roofing and Construction and Wagner for work on the Hancock County emergency roofing project.

equipment.

Accepted the lowest bid meeting specification on items 1-18 and the only bid on item 19 for furniture for the public section of the president's residence.

Rejected the bid on 8,000 gallons of gasoline.

Approved April Claim Docket for $462,166.16.

Approved final payment to Warren Paving Company and to Anderson Engineering for service on the parking lots and improvement project.

Accepted the lowest and best bid for relocation of metal building, microscopes, welding equipment and nursing

ETV Brief

FATHER'S DAY

It's in their blood. Farming has been a way of life for three generations of the Howells from Leake County.

At 7:30 p.m., Monday, June 13, Mississippi ETV's 'Farm-week' celebrates Father's Day with a look at how three generations of this agricultural family have continued to raise cattle and poultry on land that has been passed from one generation to the next.

A production of Mississippi ETV and the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, 'Farmweek' presents up-to-the-hour market analyses, price information, weather reports and local, state and national agricultural news.

Fayard joins Cavaliers staff

Bay St. Louis native Robert J. Fayard Jr., assistant band director at Pascagoula High School, has been selected as a member of the Cavaliers Drum and Bugle Corps' visual staff.

The Cavaliers, one of only two all-male drum and bugle corps in the United States, compete all summer throughout the United States and Canada. The visual staff is responsible for the visual presentation of the corps during competition.

ROBERT FAYARD JR.

Made up of students 14 to 21 years old, the Cavaliers will travel nearly 14,000 miles before the season culminates in Kansas City, Mo., in August.

There the corps will compete with approximately 85 other groups from the United States as well as from Japan, Holland and England. Drum Corps International (DCI) finals will be broadcasted on the local PBS television station on Aug. 20.

Headquartered in Rosemont, Ill., the Cavaliers were organized in 1948 and since then have amassed over 1,000 first place victories and numerous national titles. Approximately 200 drum and bugle corps are in existence in the United States.

Fayard, 28, has several years experience with drum corps. He marched two years for the Blue Stars, LaCrosse, Wisc., and two years for the Madison Scouts, Madison, Wisc. He also served as a member of the visual staff for the Madison Scouts for one year.

Fayard received a bachelor of music education degree from the University of Southern Mississippi. He has been at Pascagoula High School for one year, and previously served as band director at Michel Middle School and assistant band director at Biloxi High School.

LIBRARY DONATION on behalf of the Hancock County Extension Homemakers Council is made by Norma Haas, left, president, and Margie Welsh, center, health and nutrition chairman, to Prima Wusnick, Hancock County Library System director. A three-volume set of Family Cookbooks prepared by the American Dietetic Association and American Diabetic Association was donated in honor of National Homemakers Week during which the council also held its annual arts, crafts and health fair at the library in Bay St. Louis. This year's event drew hundreds of people who viewed craft exhibits, received information on diet, fitness, nutrition and health, and took advantage of free blood pressure and cholesterol tests.

Impact of Parental Support

By Dr. Roger Oge
Superintendent
Bay-Waveland
Schools

The environment parents create in their homes is a crucial factor far more important than the school in determining children's overall achievement. The impact of parents' involvement and interest in their children's educational process is the key. Please consider the following:

—Parents' attitude concerning education will dictate how their children will approach learning. Parents who participate in their children's educational process communicate a message to their children that education is important. Children who receive such messages have motivation to succeed. —Teachers cannot do the job themselves. The demands of a classroom of students prevent teachers from providing the kind of individual attention needed to stimulate all children to their fullest. Parent involvement is a must if the maximum benefits of educational experiences are to be realized.

—Differences in academic achievement and cognitive development can be traced to the parents' reinforcement of school activities at home. Children who receive help at home achieve higher standards than those who don't, despite the ability of the parent. Additional help from the classroom teacher is not as helpful as assistance from parents.

—Praise and encouragement is recognized by educators as one of the most effective tools of teaching. The children of parents involved in the educational process receive the benefits of reinforcement from the single most important source in their lives, that of their parents. —No one knows children like parents do—what motivates them, their interests, their strengths, their desires, their history. This wealth of information is very useful to the classroom teachers. This information is useful if the parents have positive, active relationships with the schools and teachers.

—Children's education does not begin and end with the ringing of the school bell. All experiences for children are a learning experiences. Thus every parent is involved in the education of their children on a daily basis.

Parents play a vital role in planning and establishing the kinds of activities in their home that will stimulate and increase the intellectual skills of their children. The rewards of their interests and involvement may not be immediate; however, their involvement makes a big difference in whether their children will succeed in the educational process.

Fashion show benefits SADD

A fashion show benefiting the St. Stanislaus and Our Lady Academy Chapter of Students Against Driving Drunk was held at the Brother Peter Memorial Gym on the campus of SSC.

Models were members of the Princess Shoppe Teen Board and SSC students David Bradley, Mathew Richmond, Frank Burdette, Ya-Sin Shabazz, Chris Schmidt, Paul Montjoy and Freddie Wirstrom.

Commentator Jane Ann Fahey, manager of The Princess Shoppe in Bay St. Louis, emphasized the slogan, "It's not fashionable to drink and drive."
